BIOGRAPHY:

Owen Anton “Tony” Clark was born on October 26, 1933 in Hartford, Connecticut. He graduated from Hartford Public High School in 1951, served four years in the Navy and worked as a letter carrier for nearly 20 years. He settled in Willimantic, Connecticut with his wife, Kathleen “Kathy” (McCarthy) Clark and their six children in 1979. Tony and Kathy contributed their time and energy to benefit their neighbors and to speak out for causes of peace and justice.² “Their voices could be heard singing at peace vigils, in local pubs on St. Patrick’s Day and on many other occasions... People still remember ‘the guys who helped out when people needed it.’” Tony was interested in all aspects of his beloved Willimantic which lead to extensive research into its history especially of the buildings along Main Street. This collection is a testament to that work. Tony died on July 8th in 2009.¹

SCOPE AND CONTENT NOTE:

The Tony Clark Collection includes information about Eastern Connecticut and particularly Willimantic and the surrounding towns. The first series offers a fairly comprehensive collection of articles and letters describing the locally well-known Fourth of July Boom Box Parade established by his wife, Kathleen Clark, in 1986. The collection includes information and pictures of area towns; information about Fife and Drum Corps in Connecticut; local maps and news clippings about special events and people, particularly his wife, Kathleen. Series VI – Photographs is the largest segment of the collection. It offers images of local mills, streets, schools and buildings particularly along Main Street in Willimantic. Most of the images are photocopies of original photographs and postcards shared from the collection of his friend, Francois J. Gamache of Willimantic.

SERIES DESCRIPTION:

Series I- Boom Box Parade

This series offers a collection of correspondence and news clippings which document the establishment, growth and development of this important and beloved 4th of July tradition in Willimantic, Connecticut.

Series II- Connecticut Towns

This series includes brochures and other descriptive information on the following towns: Baltic, Canterbury, Meridan, Plainfield (Packerville), Plainville, Taftville, Willimantic, Willington, and Windham.

Series III- Fife & Drum

This series offers information on local Fife & Drum Corps plus information on the Company of Fifers & Drummers of Connecticut. Correspondence, news clippings and publications offer information on historical and contemporary activities.

Series IV- News clippings

This series offers information on local people and local events including the merger of the City of Willimantic with the Town of Windham, Connecticut in 1983.

Series V- Research Notes

This series includes Tony Clark's notes on textile mills in eastern Connecticut.

Series VI - Photographs

This series includes a collection of photographs taken in Willimantic and surrounding communities primarily between 1890 and the 1960s. The collection is divided into two sections. The first includes local photographs, a photocopy of the picture book Willimantic, Conn. 1894 (The Thread City), photographs of the Willimantic Camp Meeting Grounds and photographs of trolleys from the Meriden/Waterbury area of Connecticut. The second titled "Gamache Collection" includes a large collection of photographs and postcards primarily of Willimantic shared from the collection of François J. Gamache. Many of the photographs include handwritten notes by Tony Clark about location, names or dates.

Series VII- Maps & Posters

This series offers a collection of oversized material including a map of Danielsonville c1869; a map of Windham Cemetery; copies of Willimantic cemetery maps; a souvenir poster of "Alert Hose Company's Active Member's Banquet" c1898; "Life on the Farmington River" Poster c1950 and "Mansfield Development Plan" c1970.

Series VIII – Miscellany

This series includes two compact discs with scanned images of Willimantic maps (1887-1924) and Willimantic buildings (1985-1960s) plus copies of the locally published serial The Windham Phoenix (1985-1987) and a copy of One Day I Went Looking For Myself by Mary Ellen Meikle (1990).
